

Resume

I am Shen Zhuo (Jason), a third-year graduate student majoring in Traffic Psychology at Liaoning Normal University. My research mainly uses multilevel models and growth models to explore:

- Developmental differences and psychological mechanisms in children's street-crossing decision-making.
- The impact of executive function on driving performance in both young and elderly drivers.
- The interactive effects of sensation-seeking and experience on danger perception in railway drivers.

Contact

Email : 410752197@qq.com

Phone : 17640661521 (Wechat)

Supervisor : Jinfei Ma

Thesis Advisor : Jingyu Zhang

Education

-Bachelor's degree in Traffic Mechanical Engineering from Chang'an University

-Engineer specializing in acoustic product structure and reliability at Luxshare Precision

-Master's degree in Applied Psychology from Liaoning Normal University